

Carlos The Sea Monster

Francisco Lopez

Once upon a time there was a boy named Bob who lived with his family in the woods. He loved to fish with his buddies and catch fish daily. There wasn't a day when he hadn't caught a fish that he can remember. So one day he called all his friends to come and fish with him at a new spot he heard of off the road on the other side of the woods. He met up with his friends and headed off to their fishing destination on foot. The boy was so glad because he had never fished in this spot and always wanted to challenge himself to fish new and bigger fish than before. His friends were excited because they all loved fishing and loved eating what they caught and the end of the day. When they first arrived there they took out their freshly picked earth worms, put them on the hook and threw them in the water. The young boy felt something bite his pole right away and got very excited.

"I got one I got one!" the boy said

The fish was so big and strong it was pulling the boy into the water.

"Help me guys ahhhh!" the boy screamed.

Once his friends heard he needed help they ran and started to pull him out the water.

The boy was still hanging onto the fishing pole anxious to catch this fish. He something big moving in the water and was amazed about it so he told his friends to pull harder and harder until they took this out the water. Once the boy said that something behind popped out of the water about 20 feet in the air and screeched loudly. All the boys in shock opened their eyes and opened their mouth while letting go of the fishing pole except Bob he kept struggling with the monster in the river. The other boys were scared to death of what they just saw except Bob he had to catch this monster fish no matter what.

"Help me guys, cmon!" Bob yelled.

But nobody helped him not even a bit they were too scared of the monster. Bob seemed to have the monster in the hook but it kept rocking Bob side to side fiercely.

"Woohooo!, I love this!" Bob screamed happily.

Bob was being thrown from every angle possible but he didn't care he was having fun doing it. He was so into catching this monster fish he just forgot about everything and everyone around him. He never seen or felt a monster this big in any river ever in his life he was just so amazed it scared him but he had to catch it he had to. After about an hour of struggling with the beast the monster got tired and so did Bob they both gave up and the same time unexpected. The boys with there eyes and mouth still open drop to there knees tired of watching the whole thing like Bob and the sea monster were. After Bob realized the beast stopped it was the perfect time to get him out so he asked his friends for help to pull him out and they all put there force onto the fishing pole and pulled as hard as they could.They pulled harder and harder until they saw a head coming from the water so they pulled even harder to get it all out. They take about an hour to get the full body of the sea monster and are suprised of what it is and how big it was. The monster was aboiut 20 feet and 20 inches wide for a fact no one was going to eat this fish any day soon. The boys were deciding to leave it there untill it regains in energy but Bob wanted to keep it any way possible.

"Are you crazy bob" The boys said.

Bob didn't pay any attention to his friends he just wanted to keep the fish as a pet or another friend.

"Get up Carlos get up" Bob said.

"You named it!" Friends said at the same time.

The boys and Bob argued for a bit but all the attention went to Carlos the monster, Bob was just so amazed he couldn't believe what he had accomplished.

"Carlos wake up!" Bob yelled.

Bob was so happy he had caught Carlos, he just loved him. All of a sudden Carlos eyes opened and looked around still on the floor and put his long neck and head in the air above all the boys. Then the sea monster Carlos looked at Bob and screeched loudly. Once he was done yelling at Bob he stared at his every move and went toward him and licked him from feet up and smiled.

Bob smiled and had fun with Carlos, playing with him on land and in the water. Bob's friend's were not scared of Carlos no more and also played with him. Bob would of never thought he would ever own a big sea creature as a pet before but then what was his parents going to say about it this he couldnt let them know. So later after playing with his new pet and friends all morning and all afternoon he told Carlos he will be back and see him first thing in the morning to play again. Carlos agreed and smiled and made a speacial noise Bob never heard before which made him feel speacial he had Carlos.

" I love you Carlos the Sea Monster." Bob smiled.
